

ABSTRACT

A superconducting cable comprising at least a superconducting conductor and a cryostat including a thermal insulation and an inner tube is provided with a protecting element between the superconducting conductor and the inner tube, to prevent damages to the superconducting material by the inner tube of the cryostat.

Fig. 2

10026761-122701